Your tasks:

- Model the business in data. Design and maintain clean, well-tested dbt Core models that power analytics & reporting.

- Evolve our warehouse. Lead BigQuery schema design, partitioning/clustering, and cost/performance tuning; drive strategic DWH initiatives and standards.

- Enable the BA team. Provide SQL/query support, craft best practices and documentation, and help teammates self-serve safely.

- Build with Data Engineering. Collaborate on ingestion patterns, CI/CD via GitHub Actions, data quality checks, and automations (custom extractor/exporter owned by Data Engineering).

- Operationalize insights. Partner with Data Engineering to sync curated data to production systems when needed (e.g., WordPress, kununu platform).

- Quality & governance. Implement dbt tests, documentation, and lineage; monitor and resolve issues proactively.

Your skills:

- 3-6+ years in Analytics Engineering / BI Engineering / Data Warehousing or similar.

- Advanced SQL and strong data-modeling fundamentals (star/snowflake, SCDs, entity–fact design, naming conventions).

- Hands-on BigQuery and dbt Core (CLI in repo); confident with Git/GitHub and GitHub Actions for CI/CD.

- Stakeholder chops: translate fuzzy business questions into pragmatic data designs and sequenced delivery.

- Clear documentation habits and an eye for maintainability.

Nice to have

- Python for analytics engineering utilities.

- Experience with Tableau Online or comparable BI tools (Looker/Looker Studio, Metabase, Power BI).

- Familiarity with observability/quality tools (e.g., Great Expectations, Monte Carlo, BigQuery DQ); we use dbt tests today, broader experience welcome.
